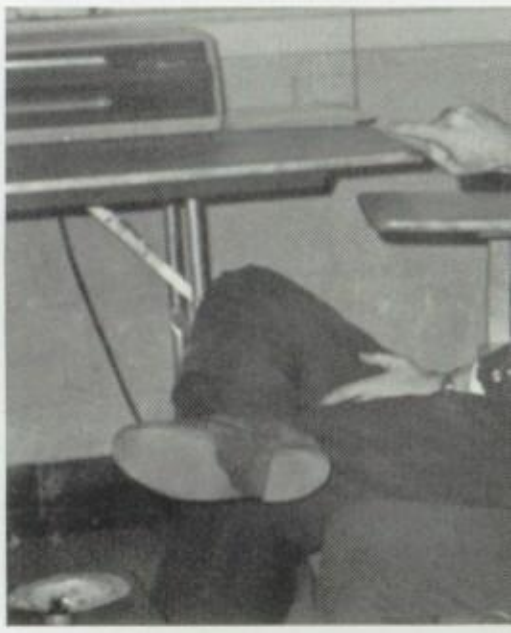
DEDICATION

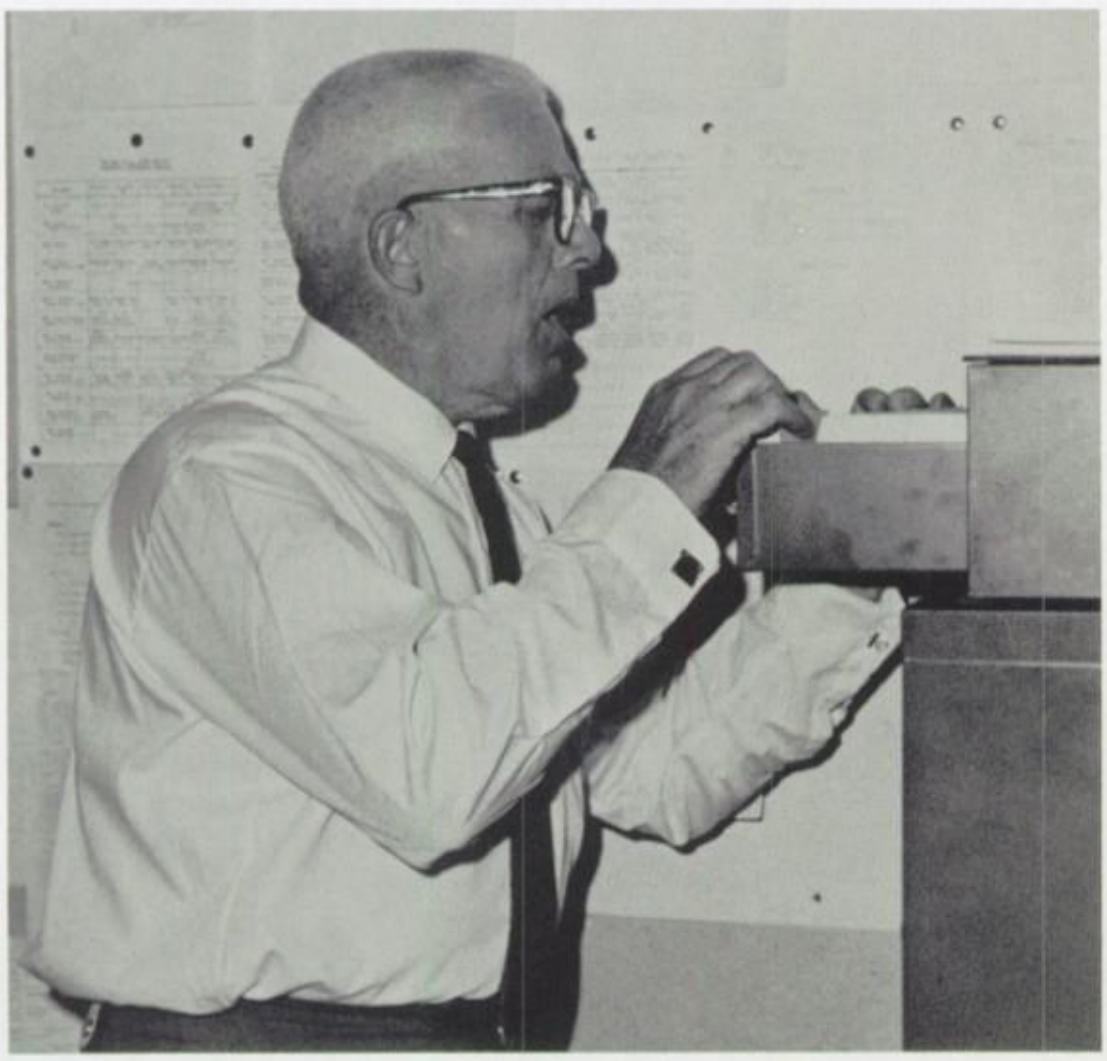
MR. JOHN ROBERTS

This year the yearbook of Oxford Hills High School is dedicated to John Roberts, United States History instructor. He received his education in the social sciences at Boston University, the University of Maine, and Gorham State Teachers College. He received a B.S. in Education from Boston University, and is currently enrolled in the Master's Program at Gorham. Mr. Roberts came to Norway in 1943. When Oxford Hills High School was formed, he maintained his teaching position. Besides Norway and Oxford Hills, he has taught at Milbridge High School, Milo High School, and the Quoddy Regional Project in Eastport. United States History is not the only subject that he has taught. Others include American Government, Problems of Democracy, World History, and Economics. Mr. Roberts possesses the honor of being a past president of the Oxford County Schoolmaster's Club and of the Oxford County Teacher's Association. The students of Oxford Hills High School have a right to be proud of this fine teacher.

"A man's real life is that accorded to him in the thoughts of other men by reason of respect or natural love."



FACULTY COMMUNICATES KNOWLEDGE



SUPERINTENDENT AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Howard I. Libby, Superintendent

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Under the Sinclair Act of 1961, t two towns of Norway and Paris voted form School Administrative District #1 The district has now been enlarged to i clude the towns of Norway, Paris, Oxfor Harrison, Waterford, and West Par Norway and Paris are represented by fi members from each town. The oth towns are represented by two directo each, except Oxford which has three.

The Board of Directors work as group and on separate committees to ke the present schools running efficientl They are also involved in the opening the new school.

We all owe a great deal of thanks the Directors and the Superintendent f their continuing efforts to make our hi school a better one for all students.

PRINCIPAL AND ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

Keith W. Cunningham, B.A. (Bates), M.A. (Columbia)

PRINCIPALS

Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Pendleton, and Mr. Reid are a very important part of O. H. H. S. It is their job to see that the school and its activities are under control at all times. They are in charge of the business matters of the school and must see that these matters are taken care of. In spite of their great task, they are always willing to help the students in any way possible.

Irvin W. Pendleton, B.S. (Maine)

Clarence R. Reid, B.A. (Colby)

MATH AND SCIENCE

E. Huff, B.S., (Maine); R. Fallon, B.S., (Springfield); B. Hall, B.S. (Boston University); N. Tame, M.A.T. (Boston, Brown).

MATHEMATICS

"Mathematics passes not only truth, bu supreme beauty — a beauty cold and austere like that of a sculpture, without appeal to any part of the weaker nature, yet sublimely pure and capable of a stern perfection such as only the greatest art can show."

— Bertrand Russell

Mathematics is not merely numbers t memorize and put on paper, but an art o philosophy of which the greatest minds of the world have dedicated their lives. It is more than merely a required course, for it teache one and all to think.

SCIENCES

The sciences that are offered at O. H. H. S. are earth science, general science, biology, chemistry, and physics. One of the aims is to create an inquiring sense in the student. The student should develop an interest in personal achievement, and must be interested in knowledge he will gain, and not the rank he may receive. He must learn a scientific approach to investigation so he can apply his knowledge to his daily life.

A good science course will provide background so that the student can achieve his goals in life. It is designed for individual learning and achievement. The student will learn to evaluate his own work and develop mental discipline.

D. Christopher, B.S. (Maine); H. Johnstone, B.A. (Maine); P. Ball, B.S., (Maine); C. Whitcomb, B.S., (Connecticut).

BUSINESS EDUCATION AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

BUSINESS EDUCATION

The business course prepares students for promising future in the business world. Starting with the freshman year, all business students take the same general courses: mathematics, science, and English. Then in the sophomore year specialized training is begun in the form of Typing I, and general business.

The junior business students may elect either the secretarial or clerical courses. In the secretarial course one would select subjects in preparation for a career in the secretarial field. In the clerical course students train for positions in business and take such subjects as bookkeeping, salesmanship, and business law.

C. Stevens, (Me. School of Commerce); L. Conary, B.S., (Thomas); M. Pierce, B.S., (Maine); D. Ross, B.S., (Maine).

J. Roberts, B.S., (Boston University); M. Moses, B.A., (Mt. Holyoke); C. Reid, B.A., (Colby); I. Pendleton, B.S., (Maine); R. Summers, B.A., (Colby).

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Social Science is not a science of exactness. It is a science of people. Lord Ernest Simon stated, "A professor of mathematics has said that the easiest of all subjects is mathematics. All you need is a brain. And the hardest of all subjects is social science, which requires in addition to a brain, long experience and rare powers of patience and detachment. A man of twenty-five may be the world's greatest mathematician, but no man under forty has ever written an important book on the social sciences."

The social sciences contribute much to the school and the community. The students here learn through text and experience how to go through the world and how to get along with other people in the world, no matter what they may be like. The social sciences give us a deeper understanding of the world around us and a first hand experience of both the pleasure and the difficulties which we encounter in it.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE AND ENGLISH

P. Perron, A.M. (Providence, Assumption); R. Ayer, A.B. (Bates); T. Johnson, A.M. (Colby, Harvard).

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

"The immense value of becoming a quainted with a foreign language is that are thereby led into a new world of traditi and thought and feeling."

— The Task of Social Hygiene

The Foreign Language Department no offers more than the old, tedious, and othe wise unagreeable courses that once seemed dominate this department. But now in the ne light it is more than merely another concept language. The mind is opened to a new wor of meditation. The culture of these foreig languages is studied, thus bringing to life a but forgotten ways of life, and history behi these beautiful languages. So now far from b ing a drab and unimaginative course, we ma now gain much more than merely the words another language.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

English is offered in a four-year program. College, Business, and Vocational are the three categories into which it is divided. These pertain to the future needs of the students in these courses.

College English prepares the student for further education by probing the mechanics and rhetoric of the language. It deals with the background and important literary works of our most outstanding authors.

Business English contains basically the same material, but it tends to be a terminal course, in many cases, and therefore does not go into the study as extensively.

As in the Business course, Vocational English is terminal. It gives the student the basic understanding of English needed to get a good job in the business world.

The English Department is therefore capable of giving the students the necessary background needed for their future professions. The importance of English is incomparable. In order to live with others and to progress in this ever-changing world, we must be able to communicate among ourselves and with people from other countries.

Standing: Katherine Bolen, B.S. (Portland State College); Helene Lyons, A.M (New York University, Maine). Seated: Ruth Hacker, A.B. (Colby); Sylv McCann, B.S. (Maine); Rosine Stowell, B.S. (F.S.T.C.); Irene Tubbs, B. (G.S.T.C.).

GUIDANCE AND DRIVER'S EDUCATION

GUIDANCE

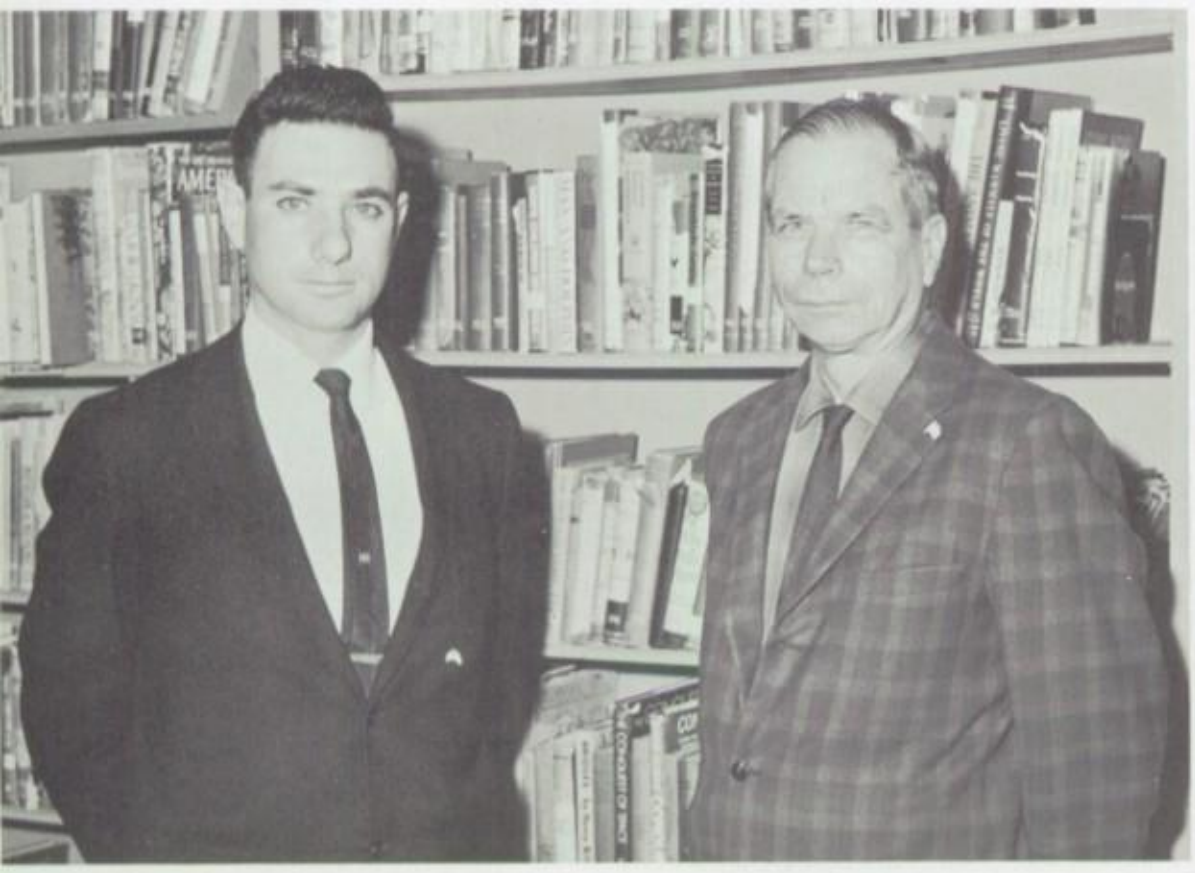
Guidance plays an important role in the everyday life at O.H.H.S. It deals with the part of life not in the classroom.

The counselors, Mrs. Bryant and Mr. O'Connor, help to guide a student through a decision so that the next time he will be better able to resolve a problem facing him.

Their main purpose is to help the student better understand himself and his desires so he can determine where his interests lie. They are there to assist each individual pupil in selecting what he is best qualified to do in the future.

It is through guidance that the student is helped to find the key to a successful future.

R. O'Connor, M.Ed. (Boston University); M. Bryant, M.Ed. (Boston University).



R. Kugell, B.S. (G.S.T.C.); J. Hacker, B.S. (Maine).

DRIVER EDUCATION

Automobiles have become an almost inseparable part of nearly everyone's daily life. A great step towards the future would be made if these machines could be run without killing and injuring countless numbers of people. This is what Driver Education at Oxford Hills tries to teach prospective drivers.

The program for each student consists of two classes per week. The driving gives the students skill and experience; classes teach the laws and what makes a car run. With this combination and teachers like Mr. Hacker and Mr. Kugell, the Driver Education students will bring safety to our highways.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION
HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Standing: D. MacGregor, B.S. (G.S.T.C.); E. Huff, B.S. (G.S.T.C.). Seated: L. Allen, (G.S.T.C.); G. Starbird, B.S. (Nasson); A. Cairns, B.S. (F.S.T.C.).

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

The Vocational Department at Oxford Hi is composed of two divisions, Industrial A and Home Economics.

Industrial Arts envelops a line of study f those boys who work well in handicraft a show a great interest in constructing things fro wood and metal. Besides their daily wo periods in the shop, the boys take subjects th give them a basic understanding of the concep for the type of work that they plan to do.

Home Economics is a course which trai the students how to manage a household in a efficient and economic manner. In the past fe years, a course has been offered to boys wh wish to learn cooking, sewing and the maj essentials of housekeeping.

"The vocation of every man and woman is serve the people." — Tolstoi.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The primary concern of the Health and Physical Education Department is the health and physical fitness of all the students. Mrs. Danforth and Mr. Gouin have tried very hard to make these classes fun, interesting, and at the same time, beneficial. Mrs. Danforth has also devoted much of her time to G.A.A., a carefully planned girl's athletic program. Mr. Gouin along with Mr. Ball and Mr. Whitcomb, basketball coaches, Mr. Fallon and Mr. Whitcomb, football coaches and Mr. MacGregor, baseball coach have worked hard to provide for the boys a well-rounded athletic program.

Together, the physical education faculty have tried to offer the best possible program to the students, in hope that they may recognize the great importance of physical fitness.

Standing: D. Gouin, B.S. (Maine); Seated: R. Fallon, B.S. (Springfield); S. Da forth, B.S. (Maine); C. Whitcomb, B.S. (Connecticut).

MUSIC DEPARTMENT AND SECRETARIES

Cynthia Wescott,
B.S. (G.S.T.C.)

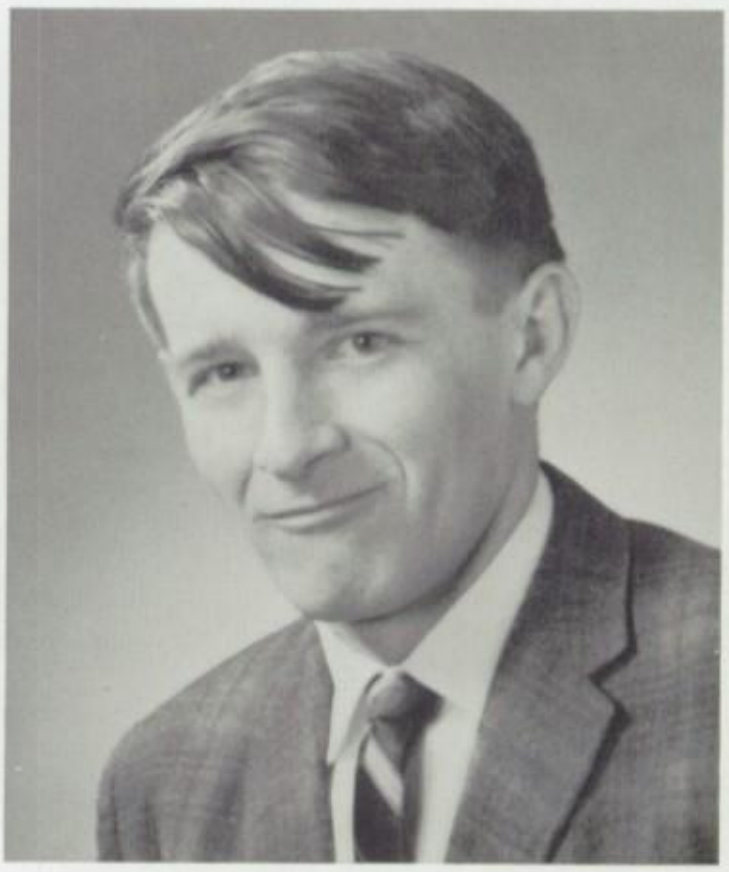
MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Music Department of O.H.H.S. is composed of two sections, the Chorus and the Band. Mrs. Wescott is the Director of the Chorus, and Mr. Walker is the Band Leader. These two people devote their time to those students who are fond of music, and help to develop an understanding and appreciation of music in these students. Through their hard work and interest in the school, Mrs. Wescott and Mr. Walker have made the Music Department one of the most active at O.H.H.S.

Jerry Walker
B.S. (G.S.T.C.)

Ethel LaCourse

Carol Richardson



SECRETARIES

Mrs. LaCourse and Mrs. Richardson, secretaries to the principal, aided by the superintendent's secretaries, play a very important part in the organization and running of the school and its business matters. They keep the records and files in order, to promote quick and efficient handling of clerical matters. Although there are only five secretaries, they have been able to provide great help and assistance in keeping the school, its business and activities in good working order.

These things shall be, — a loftier race
Than e'er the world hath known shall rise,
With flame of freedom in their souls,
And light of knowledge in their eyes.

SENIOR HISTORY

The seniors of Oxford Hills High School, class of 1966, are almost ready to walk down that long aisle to receive their diplomas and to follow diversified paths. With sad hearts but with feelings of wisdom, we realize that one chapter of our life, perhaps the most care-free and happy-go-lucky, is closed.

These four years have nurtured our minds into maturity, and it is with a smile that we look back to see ourselves as freshmen. Lowly freshmen running through the halls of two separate buildings, shuttled back and forth on buses, electing two sets of officers yet planning and striving for a common goal. The sophomores planned a first for us; the Freshmen Reception. There we were officially initiated as members of Oxford Hills. Money was our largest problem and we began by having a food sale, part in Norway, part in South Paris. Later we sponsored a dance, perhaps the last record hop we can remember.

As sophomores we sponsored the sale of Oxford Hills pens with basketball schedules stamped on the sides of them. With the sale of graduation pins our treasury grew. This must be attributed to the cooperation of the faculty and the student body.

In September of our junior year many changes took place; we were together in one building! For the first time in our history we elected one set of officers. One of the first steps taken was the collection of class dues, and each quarter added to our account for the approaching graduation. We held a rummage sale, which was a huge success because of the high degree of class participation. Also our class rings arrived at the beginning of the year and we became upperclassmen. May arrived, bringing the prom. The whole class worked together as it never had in all our history, producing what was called "the best organized and most beautiful prom in years."

Now our final year has arrived, the prom expense has decreased but yet we need more money to graduate. With a dance during Christmas vacation and a tremendously successful senior supper from which we realized about $1000 (at least $300 more than any other class has done) our treasury has grown. As seniors we undertook the sale of the Blabbertizer which is published monthly.

Now as graduation day approaches, we see various colleges, the armed services, marriages, or new job opportunities before us. However, we will always have these fond memories, no matter where we go or what we do. Yes, we are approaching the day when we will become diversified and we will choose our own roads.

Many of the 161 members of the Junior class are active in school clubs and activities. As juniors we have attained the title upperclassmen, which was enhanced by the arrival of our class rings.

Under the leadership of President Philip Sandberg, the class has sponsored a food sale and Hallowe'en Dance, both of which were very successful. President Sandberg is aided by Vice-President, Barbara Heath Secretary, Linda Daniels, and Treasurer, Linda Briggs. These officers, plus two members of the class at large Nancy Chute and Barry Roderick, along with our Student Council Representatives, Peggy Hamlin, Connie Scribner, Danny Allen, and Warren Grant, comprise the Activities Committee. The committee serves as a planning board to outline class projects. The projects are presented to the entire class at the class meetings. Any member of the class may present an idea at an activities meeting. The class has co-operated very well to make this year a successful one financially. Our Chief Advisor, Mr. Kugell, is assisted by Mr. Allen, and Mr. Verrill. Enthusiasm remains high for more dances, a class play, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

The class of '67 looks forward to being the first class to graduate from a new O.H.H.S. building.

SOPHOMORES

The Class of '68 after the confusion of the freshman year, finally settled into a routine worthy of being an integral part of Oxford Hills. We have not only initiated activities of our own but have supported those of other classes and organizations.

The Freshman Reception, sponsored by the sophomores, was the initial social event of the year. The new class was formally welcomed by the President of the sophomore class. The various clubs and school activities were then explained by their respective officers. Afterwards the receiving line, refreshments and dancing completed the enjoyable evening.

Dues, food sales, dances, and other activities were organized in order to raise money toward graduation expenses.

Our second year at Oxford Hills has been a combination of hard work and pleasure, but we are looking forward to the privileges and prestige of being upperclassmen.

FRESHMEN

The class of '69 achieved purpose and a sense of direction in its first year at Oxford Hills High. The first big event of the year was the Freshman Reception, September 24. This year's reception was quite different, wholly lacking in the condescension we had expected. It was a pleasantly informal affair at which we were introduced to the sophomores, last year's Freshmen, the teachers, and our class advisors. We also received a briefing on those activities in which we might participate during the year. There was a dance afterwards and refreshments.

Oxford Hills Freshman class consists of 164 students, 82 girls and 82 boys. This includes 26 tuition students, from Waterford, Harrison, and Otisfield.

In the late fall we had a group of students represent our school on Poland Spring's Channel 8. The group that entertained included three of our freshman girls, Sarah Gibson, Susan Meixner, and Gale Peterson. They sang and played the guitar. Donna Stone and Brian Bean were the other two students that represented us. It was a worthwhile show which earned a most favorable response.

Members of the class played an active part not only in school clubs and organizations, but also in our athletic program. We feel that we have already begun to make an important contribution to the life of the school and look forward to participating more fully in all aspects of our school community.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Oxford Hills Student Council exists for the purpose of regulating the school calendar, promoting school harmony, and bolstering school spirit. The Council is also active in aiding local civic organizations in connection with the school and student welfare. It is active in both the Regional and State divisions of Student Councils. Oxford Hills was represented at the latter by six delegates.

The meetings are conducted according to "Robert's Rules for Parliamentary Procedure." The Council consists of six members of the senior class, and four representatives from each of the remaining classes. There is also one honorary member — our foreign exchange student. Much of the work, however, is done by delegated committees under the supervision of our advisor, Mr. Cunningham.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society at Oxford Hills High School is only part of a great national scholastic organization. Membership is based on character, scholarship, leadership, and service and is available only to members of the junior and senior classes at Oxford Hills. The induction of new members takes place in February of each year. A picturesque candlelight ceremony welcomes each new member as he takes his place in the organization.

The new members this year include seniors: Sheryl Hamlin, Linda Healy, Terri Morrissette, and Peter Towne; Juniors: Linda Briggs, Ellen Haverinen, Patricia Hoyle, Sharon Hunt, and Sherry Martin.

Each year the National Honor Society helps the Norway-Paris Chapter of the American Field Service sponsor a foreign exchange student to attend Oxford Hills. This year our foreign exchange student is Korma Buta from Ethiopia.

INDEPENDENT STUDY

Independent study is a new educational venture at O.H.H.S. It affords to a limited number of students wi special needs and interests an opportunity for intellectual growth and enrichment that can be found nowhere el in the curriculum. Each student works closely with a faculty member who is assigned as his advisor. Individua work at their own rate, free of the many external pressures that characterize the usual classroom situation. T intellectual freedom thus afforded allows the student to cover an amazingly diverse amount of material in dept Weekly conferences between the student and his advisor serve as a stimulus for further thinking and reading.

Three students were chosen to share in the experiment. Mr. Theodore E. Johnson, instructor in French a Latin, served as project advisor. Thomas Marcotte, '67, studied both the psychological and anthropological aspec of early man's beliefs and practices into our own day. Stephen Frost, '68, engaged in a detailed study of the orig of the Greek theater with particular attention to the development of stagecraft. Stephen Session, '69, was concern with an in-depth investigation of the history of Greek temple architecture from the Bronze Age to late Hellinis times.

Independent study allows students to gain experience in skills badly needed for success in college and unive sity. It represents, in short, a unique opportunity for the opening up of new horizons not only for students, but f teachers as well.

"What we have to do is to be forever curiously testing new opinions and courting new impressions."

— Walter Pater

NATIONAL MERIT

In early March of 1965, 24 junior students took the National rit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. This is a two and one-half hour of educational development and was the first step in the twelfth ual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships.

All student scores were reported to their school together with rpretive and guidance materials for the schools and the students. out 14,000 semi-finalists, the highest scores in each state, were ounced publicly in September of 1965. The names of these semi-lists were sent to colleges and organizations offering financial aid undergraduates. In October approximately 38,000 students who red just below the level required of semi-finalists received Letters Commendation for their high performance, although they were not ible to compete for Merit Scholarships.

The winners of citations were:

PRIZE SPEAKING

One of the oldest forms of expression, prize speaking, is too often overlooked. Each amateur Demosthenes acquires tremendous personal satisfaction, and builds better character through prize speaking.

Prize speaking at Oxford Hills High School is divided into two sections; junior-senior and freshman-sophomore. The participants with diligence and hard work memorize and practice dramatic, humorous, poetic, and oratorical pieces.

Our winning speakers enter in the county and regional contests, and speak at the University of Maine Speech Festival at Orono. They have in the past represented us well.

NEWSPAPER

The Blabbertizer, a school newspaper published by the senior class, is in its second year at O.H.H.S. In spite of little experience in journalism, the staff has been able to produce a newspaper that all of the students enjoy reading. Under the help and guidance of Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Ross, and Mr. Pierce, the Blabbertizer has had a very successful year.

The band of Oxford Hills High School, while still small, is growing in more ways than one. This year we have acquired new members, plus more of the talent of our director, Mr. Walker. For now we have gone from the simplest of marches to Tchaikovsky in less than one year's time. We should be grateful to Mr. Walker and the members of the band for representing our school so faithfully.

DRAMA CLUB

Following last year's huge success with The Diary of Anne Frank, the Drama Club began its new year with The Twin Menaechmi, a Roman comedy. The one act play, Ionesco's The Lesson was a successful venture into the theater of the absurd. We hosted the regional one act play contest in March.

The Wizard of Oz was the joint musical production with the Music Department. This big production of the year was in May. In addition, the Drama Club maintained the Bookstore and made a trip to Beverly, Massachusetts to see Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream. One of the busiest organizations in school the Drama Club, is successfully achieving its goal of keeping the art in theater.

Various business matters are taken care of and educational films or other sorts of entertainment are provided. The F. & L. Club has its own band and a folksinging trio, "The Wandering Three." Each year, the club has a banquet and new members are initiated. The purpose of the F. & L. is to present to the members a greater understanding and view of the foreign countries that add so much to our own culture and background.

French culture should be just as much a part of the French students knowledge as the basics of the written and spoken language. As this can not be achieved in class the members of the third and fourth year French classes bonded together in an effort to gain information on the cultural heritage of France. A French club was formed and the title for it Les Parnassiens was derived from a group of scholars and authors that flourished in the 19th century. Since the founding of the club in November the meetings have included lectures, talks by individual students, and films plus the regular club business of gaining funds and furthering the interest of the club. Meetings are held every other Monday at either the school or a member's home, thus making possible a variety in the settings in which the meetings are held. As the "pièce de resistance" the club made a trip to Quebec City in April to gather information of French life in North America. The clubs officers are Paul Enman, President; Jeanne Nadeau, Vice-President; William Kimball, Treasurer; and Sharon Ashton, Secretary. Mr. Theodore Johnson serves as advisor.

Organized in November 1965, Romani Hodierni has as its purpose the promotion of interest in the classical world in Oxford Hills High School. Composed of students of first year Latin the group has met on alternate Monday nights in the school library.

Programs have been varied dealing with diverse aspects of Greek and Roman history, art, mythology, and archaeology. A portion of each meeting is directly devoted to activities that make the study of Latin both more meaningful and more pleasurable. During December club members participated in a cultural trip to Boston. The classical collections of the Museum of Fine Arts and the Fogg Museum were visited as well as the Isabella Stewart Gardiner Museum.

The Drama Club's staging of Plautus' Menaechmi in February afforded an opportunity for the members to share in planning and research for the production. Stephen Sessions took part in the play, delivering the Latin prologue.

The club plans to expand its membership base in the future and hopes to play a role in furthering the development of Latin study in our school.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE

Sponsored by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, Dirigo Girls' and Boys' State allows many students throughout the State of Maine to have the opportunity to participate in governmental procedures on the local and state levels. For one hectic week, the delegates live with each other, learning what democracy, citizenship, and duty really are by establishing and operating town, county, and state governments.

The delegates and alternates to Boys' and Girls' State are selected from the Junior Class on the basis of outstanding records as student and community citizens. Dirigo Girls' State 1965 was held at Colby College, Waterville, June 18 through 23. Dirigo Boy's State was held at the University of Maine, Orono, June 27 through July 2.

RIFLE CLUB

The Rifle Club is composed of students interested in hunting and shooting. The team is able to practice on a range in the Armory. Forty-five of the seventy members participate in the shooting program. In the fall of each year the club sponsors a Hunter's Safety Program.

The club has a regular team which is sponsored by the Pine Tree Rifle Association. The members of the team fire a special target each week, and it is sent to Augusta to be scored. There it is compared with other schools and groups. The five highest scores determine the team score. The team had a very successful year, going undefeated and winning all of its matches.

The Future Business Leaders of America is a club made up of students from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes taking at least one business subject. This year there is a total membership of fifty-eight. This is the second year that the F.B.L.A. has been a member of the National Organization. We have several annual activities such as selling candy, sending Thanksgiving baskets to shut-ins, the Christmas party, and the annual banquet.

This club brings to its members an opportunity to become a part of the community and business world. The object of the F.B.L.A. is to inform the students of methods through which they may achieve the ultimate goal of competent, aggressive, business leadership. It also teaches them the proper business and clerical procedures to be used in office work. Under the able supervision of Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Stevens, the club has achieved many of its ambitions and is continuing to be active in many varied activities in our community.

BETTER HOMES FOR TOMORROW

Future Homemakers of America is a club made up of students presently taking or formerly enrolled in a home economics class. Regular meetings are held each month with programs presented by guest speakers, panels, movies, and skits relating to the vocation of homemaking. Our local chapter, which is part of a national organization, promotes a point system whereby any member, by her participation in any club activity, may earn F.H.A. pins, guards, compacts and bracelets. These awards are given out in May at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, which is always the highlight in our year's program. Other awards are given each year to outstanding homemaking students participating in the four-year program. These are the American Agriculturist Award and the Crisco Trophy.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club at O.H.H.S. is made up of students interested in the sciences. The club elects officers, collects dues, and holds regular meetings.

The main function of the Science Club this year, as in past years, was the sponsorship of the annual Science Fair. The participants in the fair were judged, and prizes were awarded to the top three in each group, Biology A, Biology B, Chemistry, and Physics. A gold cup was also awarded to the student having the best exhibit, in the opinions of the judges, on the floor.

Biology A—Peggy Hamlin, first place; Philip Sandberg, second place; Susan Bean, third place.

Biology B—Cindy Deroche, Pamela Glines, Maude Grant, Judy Hawkes, first place; Marie Johnson, second place; Jane Hards, third place.

Chemistry—Christine Newell, first place; Ellen Haverinen and Kathy Wiles, tied for second place; Jeanne Nadeau, third place.

Physics—Steve Kessell, first place; John Cole, second place; Rex Waite, third place.

The gold cup for the best exhibit was awarded to Christine Newell.

The Key Club is a club composed of boys selected from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes. All boys who have maintained passing grades, shown qualities of leadership, and a will to work are eligible for membership.

Founded last year with a nucleus of twelve boys chosen by the school, the club has grown to contain twenty-five hard working boys.

The Key Club Motto is "WE BUILD." Guided by the light of example set by their founding fathers, the Kiwanis Club, the Key Club tries to be of service to its community by helping in many projects which are of benefit to the surrounding area. The club also attempts to earn money by such things as car washes, dances, and a job corps. The money is used to cover expenses and help in providing some enjoyment for its industrious members.

The Key Club has shown itself to be an active and useful addition to school life. It is definitely for those boys who enjoy being of service and building up their community.

The monitors are a group of boys from the two upper classes in each building (Sophomores and Seniors). The boys are there to insure orderly conduct in the corridors while the students are changing classes. They also keep the students in order whenever there is a school assembly.

SAFETY

L. Currier, Corresponding Secretary; A. Downing, Treasurer; Mr. Hacker, Advisor; C. Rector, President; T. Grover, Vice President.

The Safety Council is made up of a small number of students whose main purpose is to promote safety within the high school and the student body. The council elects its own officers by popular vote and holds meetings weekly during the activity periods.

This year the council has had charge of the following activities: car registration and parking, the sale of steno-pads, the posting of safety articles and slogans on a bulletin board, the writing of safety articles for the school newspaper, and the sanding of icy sidewalks.

LIBRARIANS

The library at Oxford Hills exists to serve the students and aid them in their studies. The basic reference collection consists of nearly five hundred volumes, while there are five thousand titles in the general collection. Nine newspapers and eighty-one magazines are currently received.

The students librarians, under Mr. Johnson's direction, learn the Dewey Decimal Classification System and the Library of Congress Filing Rules. They also help students find needed material, charge out books, and check overdues.

The library has books and bibliographies which can be of assistance to those wishing to help themselves. Mr. Johnson's aid is always available to any student who needs help with book selection, reference work, or research.

CONCESSIONS

Peter Towne is the director of Concessions. At weekly meetings, the volunteers from the Student Council decide who is to sell refreshments.

One of the main functions of concessions is to order supplies as they are needed. The main companies with which they do business are Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola, and Circus Time potato chips. It was decided that this year the proceeds from the sale of popcorn will go to the American Field Service Program.

G.A.A.

The Girl's Athletic Association of Oxford Hills is an organization designed to give the girls, not only an opportunity for physical fitness exercises, but also the rewarding experience of team sports.

Archery and gymnastics were provided for those who preferred individual activity. Softball, bowling, and basketball were the team sports.

Basketball proved to be the most popular. Teams were organized and four competed each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoon. Those who wished to participate as referees were given the opportunity of learning the rules and acting as referees for the various games.

Although these sports were wholly intramural, the enthusiasm was such that a few minor injuries resulted. This did not dull the interest and competitiveness, however. Many hours of exercise and pleasure were derived from the varied programs of G.A.A.

STAND UP AND CHEER...

CHEERLEADERS

The Oxford Hills Cheerleaders have been more successful this than ever before. New uniforms made up of white sweaters, O. H. le green skirts, and megaphones were introduced for the football seaso

To help support themselves financially, the cheerleaders sold I sandwiches for a month. With the assistance of our basketball and foo coaches, they have sponsored several rallies to arouse school spirit. O Hills has been well represented at the games.

As cheerleaders of O.H.H.S., they are proud to say that this yea been the best in school spirit. It will be even greater in the future. are also proud of our boys and coaches because they have done their to make this year a good year for O.H.H.S. in sports and leadership.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club, with the aid of its advisor Mr. Summers, is a very active part of the school's extra-curricu activities and has increased its membership considerably over last year.

Conditions permitting, the club takes weekly trips to nearby Mt. Abram and a special trip to a more dist resort during spring vacation. This always seems to prove a success.

The Winter Carnival activities were resumed this year with a ski meet and snow sculptures during the day a an informal dance with its crowning of King, Bill Haynes, and Queen, Cindy Deroche in the evening.

Even though the club's main activities center around the winter months, it still remains active through the off-season with ski movies and other fund-raising activities.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The newly formed Industrial Arts Club is centered around the promotion of an understanding of Industrial Arts, both in the school and the community. They have adopted the motto, "Learning to Live in a Technical World."

The activities of the club vary greatly from shop sessions to dances and outings. This year the club sponsored an open house in an attempt to show the significance of vocational training in the larger context of the school's academic program.

The club boasts an initial membership of seventy and hopes are high for an increase next year.

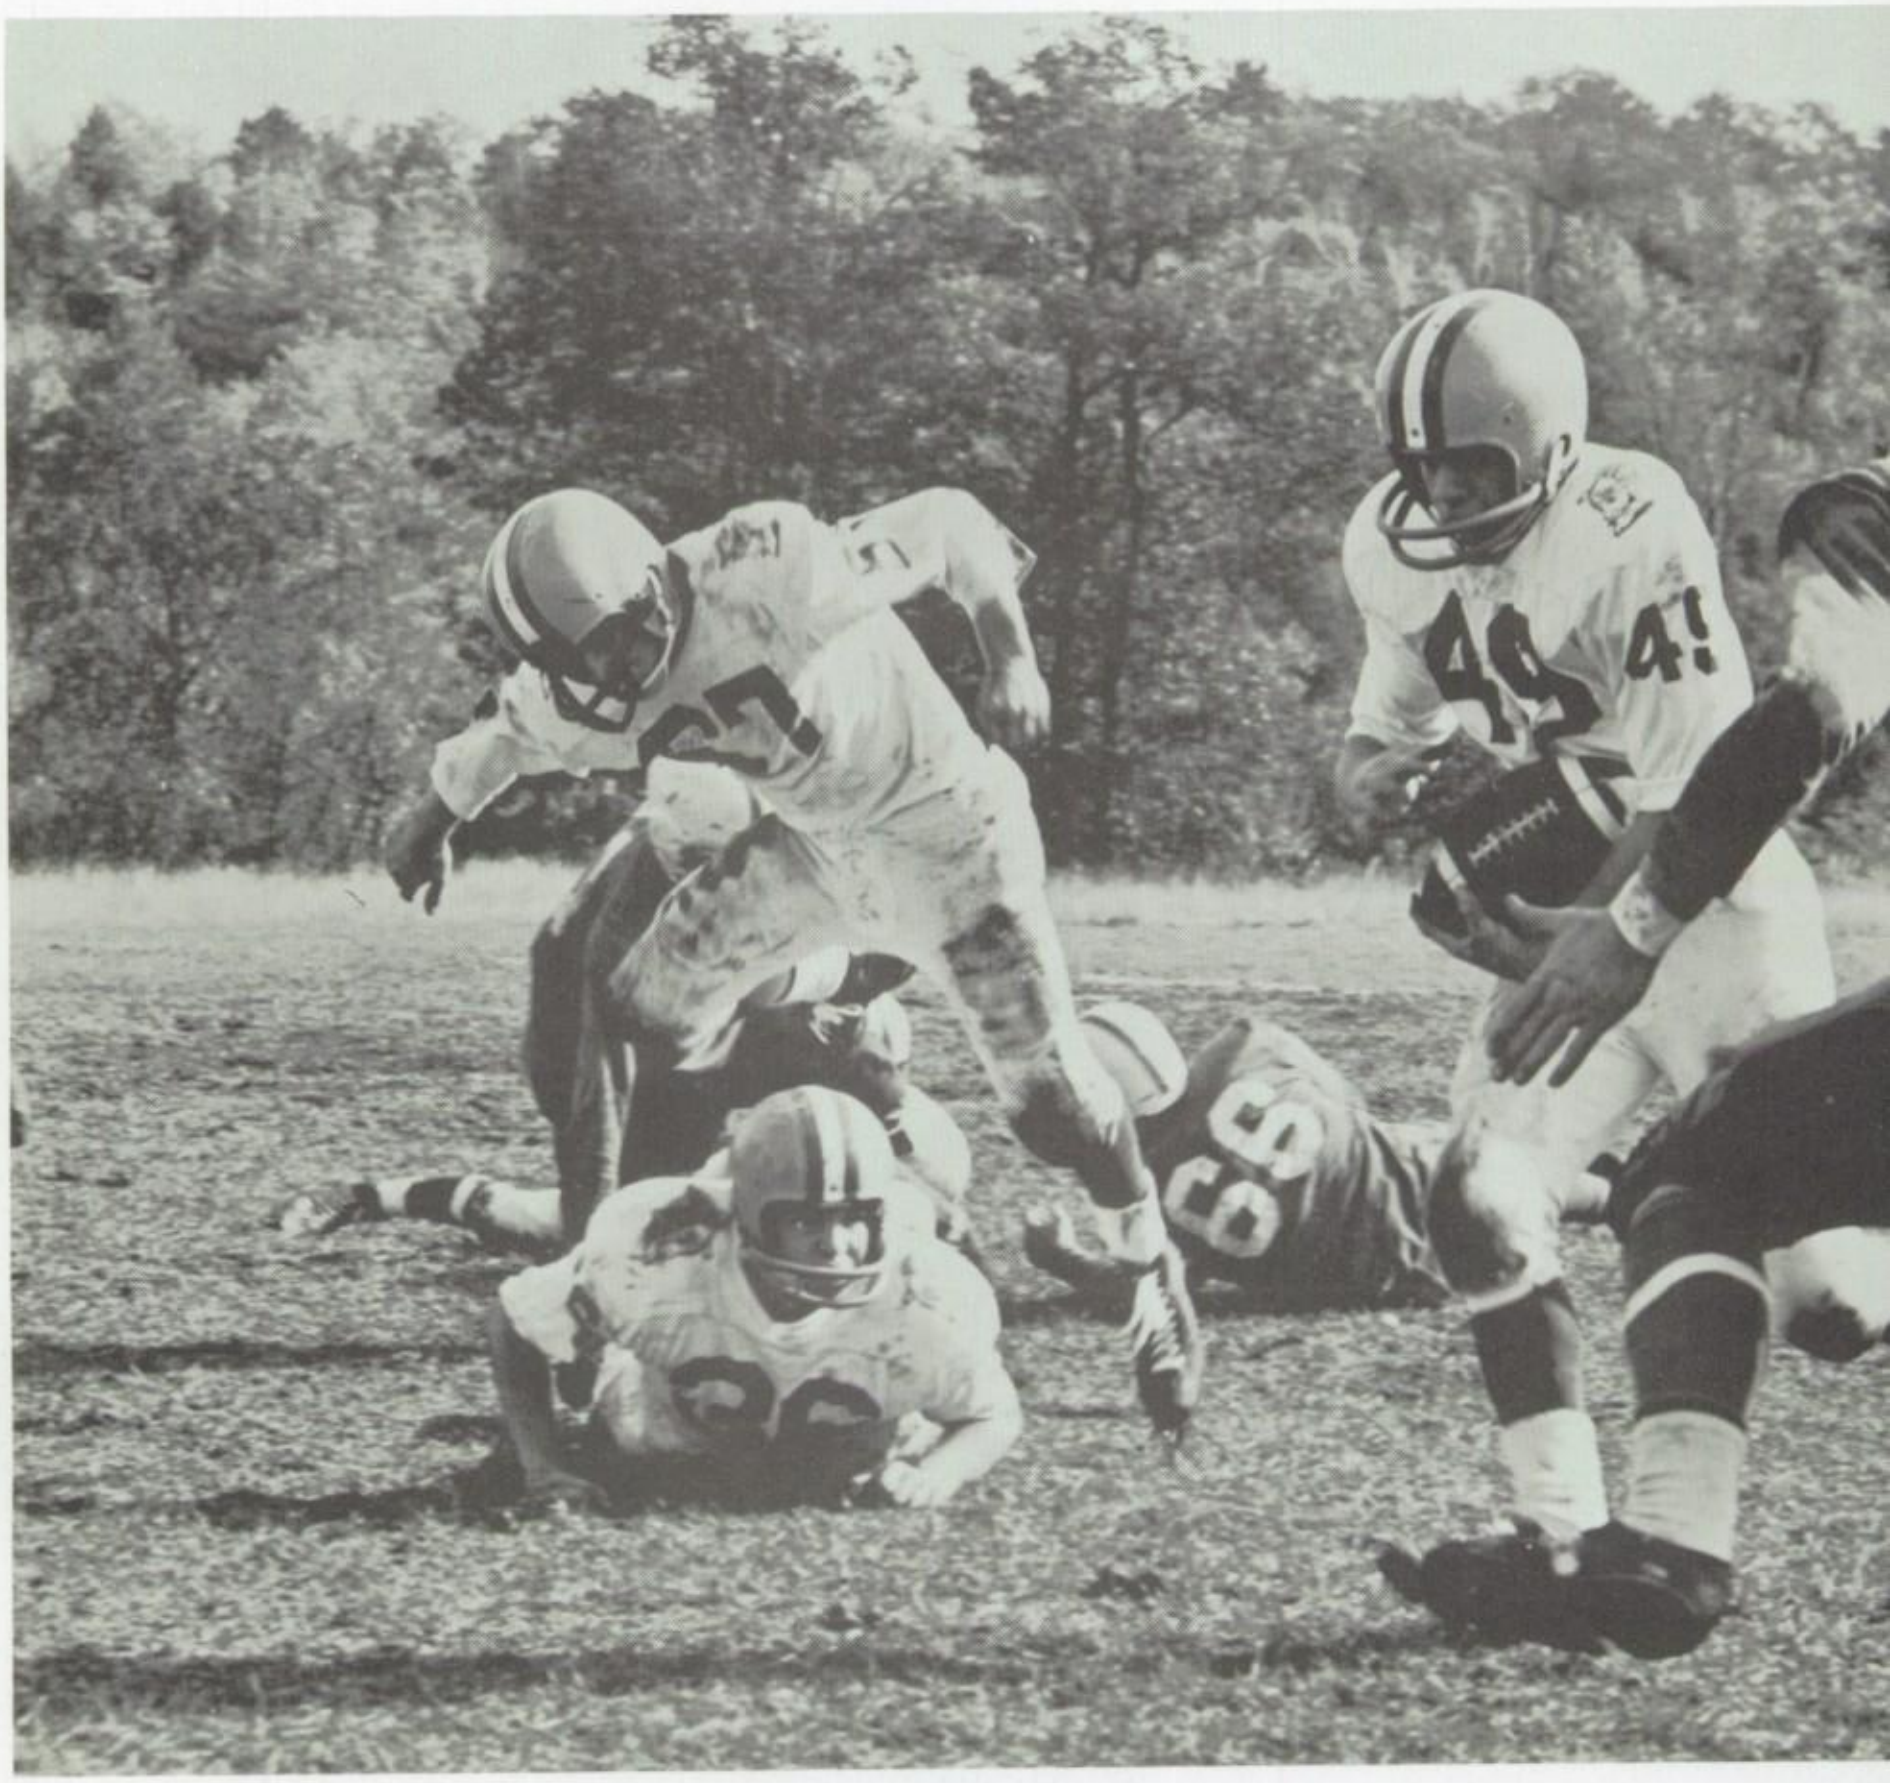
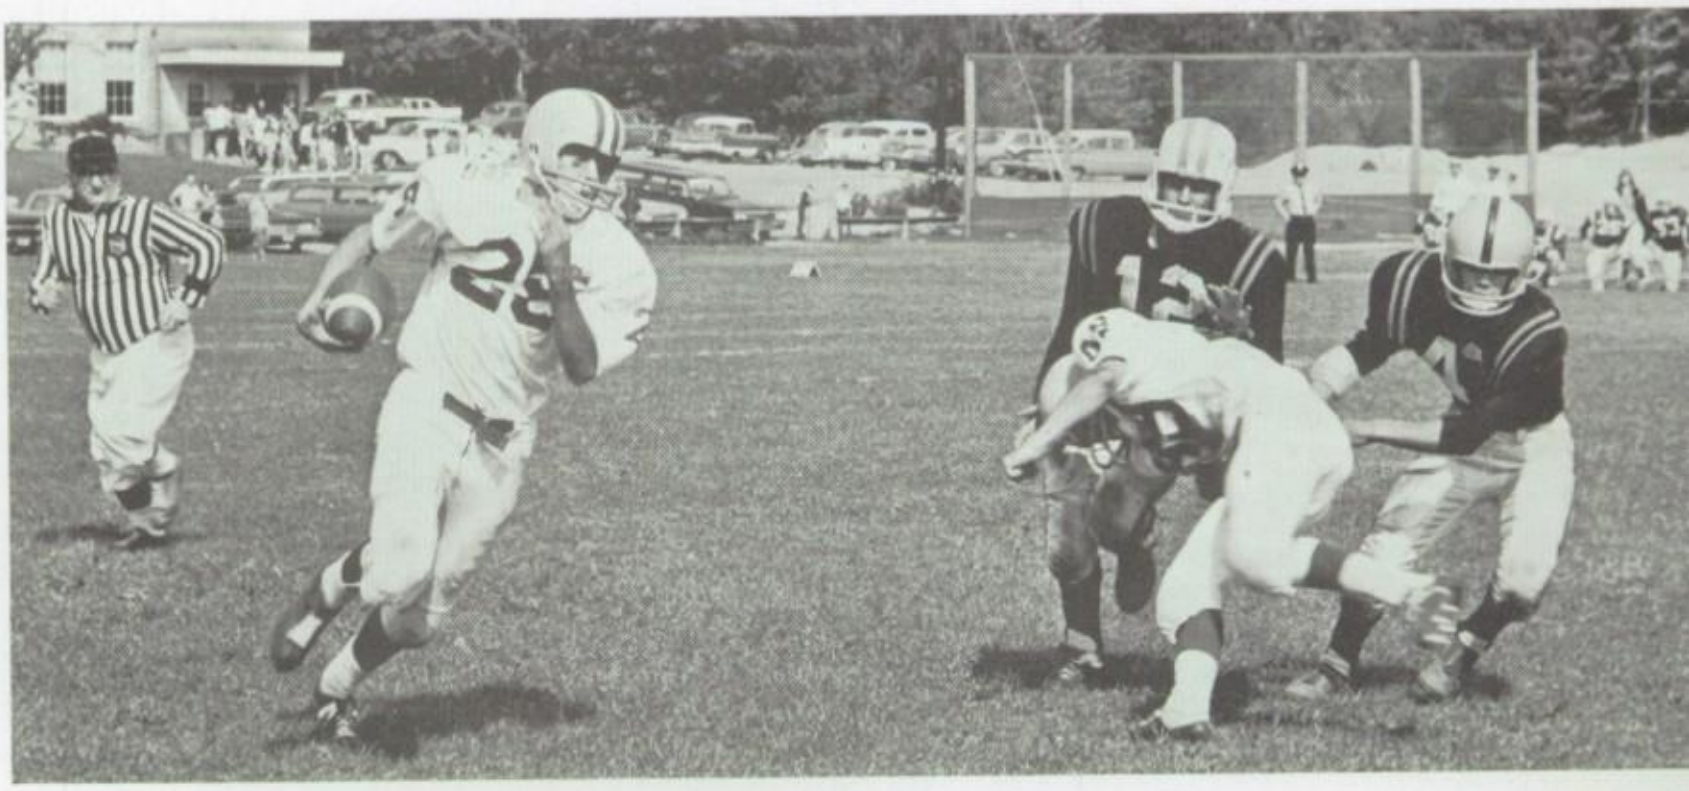
SPORTS





A KEY BLOCK MEANS MORE YARDAGE

FOOTBALL

For two grueling weeks, from the last week in August to the first week of September, the football team practiced to form itself into the effortless and mobile machine that became a winning team in the Class B Seacoast Football Conference.

With a nucleus of seventeen returning lettermen led by Head Coach Bob Fallon and Assistant Coaches Chris Whitcomb and Bob Webber, our team fought to a 5-3 record, tying for third place in the Seacoast Conference.

Unlike last year, when we lost our first game to Brunswick 40-0, this year's opener was a 39-6 win over Skowhegan. This contrast shows both how much experience counts and how much errors hurt us last year. With few errors against Skowhegan, our team rolled over them with little trouble. In seven of our eight games we showed the drive and determination that made us into a well-coordinated, functioning unit. In the last game of the season Kennebunk stopped our productive offense. Failing to cross our opponents goal line, we were shut out 13-0.

The Oxford Hills football squad had three of its members elected to the Seacoast All-Conference Team. Three members of the team were also given Honorable Mentions. The three All-Conference boys were Wayne Kuvaja, Bradley Payne, and Stanley Sampson. Those chosen for Honorable Mention were Wayne Flanders, Warren Grant, and Eddie Truman. The boys selected for this team are chosen by all coaches in the league. Election to the All-Conference Squad is a high honor representing an outstanding performance on the playing field.

BASKETBALL

Even though the season was disappointing from the beginning, the Oxford Hills High School basketball team finished the year by posting a 7-11 record. The season was one rich in both growth and experience for the squad. As we look back on the season we see that attendance at the home games was very good, and many of the games which we lost were only by a few points.

We did not have the services of Dave Bryant for the first six games because of an arm broken during the last part of the football season. We did have some individual stars such as Bradley Payne and Bill Haynes. Bradley became the OHHS foul shooting champion and later went to the State Foul Shooting Contest at Gorham State Teachers College, where he made 41 out of 50 foul shots. Bradley was also our high scorer with 367 points, followed by junior Bill Haynes with 283 points. Unfortunately we will lose Bradley and the other seniors will graduate, but we expect the return of veterans Bill Haynes, Barry Roderick, and David Bryant.

The Oxford Hills Baseball team had a rath disappointing season, winning two out of fourte conference games. There are, however, son valid reasons for our disappointing season. O school is now facing a number of larger schoo such as Stephens, Edward Little, and Lewisto Our baseball team was also handicapped by i experience, as only three lettermen from the pa year were available to start the first game.

The season was successful in that mu experience was gained by all participants. M MacGregor and Mr. Webber guided our you team, and are to be congratulated for their succe in helping our players to perfect their skills.

For the first time our Junior Varsity Squ played in regular competition. This proved to a happy circumstance, indeed, for previously he players could not get this experience because hey did not have the opportunity to play.

We had many notable team members. Gradu- ates Bill Haverinen and Peter Wiley led the team n batting. Wayne Kuvaja was the mainstay in pitching, receiving strong support from Steve Cummings. League coaches agreed in naming Barry Roderick one of the best shortstops in the Andy Valley League. The whole infield was trong with David Bryant, Bill Haverinen, and Curtis Rector at first, second and third respec- ively. This resulted in the creation of a com- petent double play combination. Lloyd Pulsifer handled himself very well behind the plate. David Bryant, Steve Cummings, Wayne Kuvaja, Lloyd Pulsifer, Curtis Rector, Barry Roderick, Stanley Sampson, and Ed Truman will be our eight eturning lettermen. They should be helped by hree promising Junior Varsity veterans; Alan Flanders, Jim St. John, and Rick Tenney.

TRACK

Track has been said to be a sport that requires full utilization of every fiber of the participant's body to achieve success. This year's outstanding record was due to the persistent training efforts of our team and the excellent coaching ability of Coaches Bob Fallon and Jerry Walker.

Again last year Greg Goodspeed was our top runner. He scored in the two-mile run and consequently went to the State Meet. Other top runners were Dale Chapman in the 220; Warren Frechette in the 880; Wesley Komulainen in the 100-yard dash; and Steve Shaw in the mile run and the 40-yard dash. Stan Grover, who excelled in the low hurdles, also went to the State Meet. Wesley Komulainen was our top man in the broad jump and pole vaulting. Bill Haynes excelled in the high jump.

In field competition Frank Flanders threw the discus and the shot put with marked success. Ted Deroche our high man with the javelin served his team well.

Ironing Out The Difficulties

GOLF

This past year the Oxford Hills Golf Team had another good season; winning eight, losing five, and tying one of the games they played.

We had two returning lettermen, Bruce Downing and Ricky Davis. We also gained several new members, who with practice will replace our top men.

The golf team practiced hard all spring and with this practice became very adept at the game. Besides learning the rules of the game and becoming experienced at it, one learns good sportsmanship and patience, which are vital in this test of mental and physical endurance.

Rick Davis and Bruce Downing tried out for the Schoolboy Tournament for which Davis qualified, playing at Augusta. Due to the help of Coach Swenson and the combined strength of the team this was a most successful year.

JUST ONE MORE MILE

CROSS COUNTRY

Long distance running requires a capacity for endurance that is not found in any other sport. In Cross Country, the runner has not only the other runners to contend with, but also the terrain and the length of the course. He must train his body to withstand many grueling miles of competition and personal discomfort. For this reason, Cross Country draws relatively few prospective team members. Many of this year's boys were using Cross Country as a preparation for basketball, but they still exerted all their efforts to make this a successful year for the team.

Of the seven races in which we competed, we had men winning top honors in two. In all our meets, the team tried its hardest. Some of the more outstanding members of the team were Steve Shaw, Dan Haverinen, Jim St. John, and Brian Hill. These boys ran exceptionally well and like all the members were a credit to the team and the school.

THE FINISH

Literature is my Utopia. Here I am not disenfranchised. No barrier of the senses shuts me out from the sweet, gracious discourse of my book-friends. They talk to me without embarrassment or awkwardness.

— Helen Keller

WOODS

The golden sun's peeping over the hill,
And near-by is heard a lark's soft trill.
Now's a shaft of light, where just hours before
Was none, for night had closed daylight's door.
Waves faintly lapping against the near shore,
And leaves softly stirred by the breeze from the gore
Lend the great gift of sound to the silent woods scene,
Which sparkles sky blue, earth brown, and leaf green.
And look, over there, just through the trees,
Is a meadow, with grass that is rippled by Breeze;
With dewdrops like gems that are sparkling in sun,
Til Breeze laps them up with his thirsty tongue.
And see, closer by, from out of the wood,
Steps a roebuck, stands proudly, where before he has stood;
Sniffs the breeze, looks about, is revelling in light,
But sees me, and runs, is lost from the sight.
The sweet air is cool, but daylight has come,
And soft-ringing bells are calling me home.
My mind is at rest, my soul is at peace,
For never in Glory shall silent scenes cease.

— Daniel Allen

OXFORD HILLS

In all my life I have yet to see
Years that could mean more to me.
Treasured years they'll always be
Those at Oxford Hills.

Two sacred colors — green and gold
Many precious memories hold
Of the youthful minds that they helped to mold
At fine old Oxford Hills.

Students planning for the future
Aided by a willing teacher
Answering questions of the searcher
At dear old Oxford Hills.

Knowledge of the present bearing
Knowledge of the future fearing
Knowledge of the past endearing
There at Oxford Hills.

And as time nears for graduation
Tears of joy and exultation
Tears of sorrow and frustration
For leaving Oxford Hills.

After students say adieu
To those carefree years that they once knew
Reverent memories return anew
Of their old Oxford Hills.

Just to be back in school once more
Walking down the corridor
And many treasured times restore
At dear old Oxford Hills.

Words, somehow, cannot explain
The pride within the cherished name
Pride that we, the students, claim
Of our own Oxford Hills.

— Carleen Haines

I AM BLIND

I felt the cold cracked window pane the wind whistling endlessly in through crevices and unsubstantial board of unique antiquity.
I smelled the wild frigidity
of crushed snowflakes and frizzled frost
And I heard the cry of the coyotes, their wailing rising high to the hatchet cliffs of pacific heights.
To see the platinum white light,
to see the winds whipping the rockies,
to see the hoary wolf's gray coat
rustling in the dark underbrush,
to see beyond this Berlin mask,
This is all I ask.

— Candy Kaustinen

TIME

Time drifts on, the pendulum swings with timeless perfection, becoming the real god of today. The sand struggles its way through the tiny space from youth to maturity. Our lives are dependent on faith or fate as you believe, as a leaf is dependent on the wind.

When we are young the grain is dropped into the wide opening of the glass. We are struggling against so many other grains, falling out of the cradle of childhood. Slowly at first, then much faster we are packed down with the other grains of sand: grains of different origins and color. Our understanding is lengthened by experience; at the same time we are crushed by our own prejudices. As we grow older we are pressed tighter and tighter and the fight to stay alive is on. Some reach the middle later than others; at the greatest time of life we reach this crisis of decision. But all too quickly we are again brought to the reality of the earthly atmosphere around us; the change is severe, we hit the pile hard, we try to remain on top, it is the most difficult fight of our lives. What's the use of growing old when you are just packed down tighter and tighter into the pile? At last we grow tired, our will is broken, and the mighty hand removes us from the time consuming glass forever.

— Allen Parsons

PEACE

Do we know what peace really means?
Is it just freedom from hostility?
Or is it just the calm between the scenes
Of bloody conflict and calamity?
Throughout the years the world has fought for peace.
So many men have died to win the strife.
Oh Lord, when will this senseless fighting cease:
And man will know true peace in this gray life?
True peace is every man's and woman's goal,
But we will never realize our dream
Until we find true peace in our own souls
And let the giant torch of freedom gleam.
Oh yes, the strife for peace will never part
Until each man finds peace within his heart.

— Joy McDaniels

L'IDÉE

Since our whole life is but a day
In heaven, the years, flying by,
Call forth from man an anguished cry
As cruel time takes all away.
What do you think, my captured soul?
Why does the darkness of our clime
Please you, when, in a moment's time,
You could come closer to your goal.
There is a place that all men seek,
Wherein are found the just and meek,
And love and goodness — all these things.
There, my soul, to highest heights led,
Thou shalt find, despite thy dread
The awesome beauty our death brings.

— Joachim du Bellay

OUT OF MY THOUGHTS

Through my experiences at school and outside of school, I think I have learned to understand the United States very well. Perhaps I shall understand it much more at the end of the school year when I shall have a three-week tour of the country. My impression of the country will be enhanced very much, also.

Our modern world is facing many problems today, the biggest one being the Cold War. I am afraid, as are many others, that this Cold War might lead to a big Third World War. It would be not only harmful to one's conscience and life goals, but also very devastating. It is good to be an optimist. Since most of us believe in living a peaceful life, this is not an insurmountable problem for such an advanced and erudite generation. What has war to do with us? Will it provide us with any benefits?

My short and simple statement is: "I like the United States." My stay here has provided me with unforgettable memories and impressions of the country; this is especially true of my family, friends, teachers, and the people of the Norway-Paris area. I won't forget all the good times and experiences I have had here: the day I was introduced to the school assembly, the big events and games we had at our school, and my stay in the state of Maine, the Vacationland. I am afraid I will miss most of the people and all of these things, but there are not real barriers for true friendship, even though our countries are far apart.
